Men Prominent in Public and Private Life Attend Funeral of General Grant

NEW YORK, April 26.—Military men and men prominent in public and private life gathered here today to pay the last solemn honors to Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant who died here April 21. The funeral exercises were deferred until today to await the arrival of the general's daughter, the Princess Cantacuzene from her home in Russia.

The services were held in the chapel of Cornelius Vanderbilt on Governor's island. The little chapel was too small to allow the attendance of the general public, but an opportunity was given to all New York to pay its tribute as the long military procession made its way to the top of muffled drums over a five-mile line of march from the Forty-second street. At the latter point the government orders provided for a special train to take the body to West Point for internment.
President-Elect, Vice President Sherman and General Leonard Wood were present, the most distinguished persons also came to work for the funeral. The general's immediate family was present, including Mrs.
Grant, her son, Capt. U. S. Grant, her daughter the Princess Cantacuzene the general's sister, Mrs. Nellie Grant Seniors and also Mrs. Grant's brother and sister Judge Lockwood of Chicago and Mrs. Potter Palmer.

The pallbearers included Henry W.
Hunt, Gen. Taylor H. Bliss, Gen. Horace Porter, Gen. William Crozier, Gen. F. H. Barry, Gen. H. G. Sharpe, Hamilton Fish, B. H. Kohlstedt, Dr.
Robert Abbe and others.

Honorary pallbearers representing the military order of the Medal of Honor were Gen. Daniel E. Sickles and Gen. Horace C. King.

As a special pallbearer of Chicago and Captain E. H. Smith of Government Island and charge of the services in the chapel and the honor of serving as guard to the casket bearing the body to the military funeral home at West Point to an escort composed of Gen. Bliss, temporarily in command of the department of the East and his staff, Gen. F. H. Barry, of the New York National Guard and his staff and the U. S. Grant post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Three contingents following this casket of honor were assigned to the casket of honor of the Twenty-ninth infantry, the Twenty-ninth cavalry and the Twenty-ninth corps of artillery and other military organizations.
Just behind the casket bearing the general's body came the general's horse, Dr. Kohlstedt in black.

MINERS AND OPERATORS REACH AN AGREEMENT

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Continuation of the report that the anthrope miners and operators had reached an agreement in settlement of their dispute as to wages and hours of labor was given today in a statement from the office of President Baker.

It is expected that if the agreement is ratified the 170,000 men who have been idle since April 1, will return to work by May 10.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 26.—Representatives of soft coal owners of Ohio, western Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana, and of the United Mine Workers of those states today signed the wage agreement ratified by the recent referendum vote of the miners.

IGNORED DISTRESS SIGNALS

Witness Declares California Refused to Go to Aid of Titanic

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A phase with light from her saloon and cabins, the Titanic dashed full speed to her destruction, according to Ernest Gill, a donkey engineer on the steamship California, who testified today before the senate committee investigating the disaster.

He said Capt. Stanley Lord of the California refused, later, to go to the aid of the Titanic, the rockets from which could be plainly seen. This Captain Lord denied, but both he and his wireless operator acknowledged having seen rockets. Their ship, they said, was fast in the ice.

Gill said he was standing on the deck late Sunday night, when he sighted a great ship sweeping along at top speed about 10 miles off. He did not know it was the Titanic, but he made out readily that it was not a freighter or a small vessel, because of the manner in which it was illuminated.

No Effort to Get Up Steam.

Some time later he saw a distress rocket on the horizon. He said he did not make an effort to get up steam and go to the rescue. The California was drifting with the flow. So indignant did he become, said Gill, that he endeavored to recruit a committee of protest from among the crew, but the men failed him.

What time did the California get up steam, asked Senator Fletcher.
"I don't know, exactly," said the witness, "but it was some time after a whistle."

From the rockets Gill judged the distressed ship to be not more than 20 miles off. He described the rockets, his description tallying with that given by Fourth Officer Boswell of the Titanic, who sent them aloft.

Captain Lord entered a sweeping denial of Gill's accusations, and read from the California's log to support his contention. Cyril Evans, the California's wireless operator, however, told of having heard much talk among the crew, who criticized the captain's course. Gill, he said, told him he expected to get $500 for his story when the ship reached Boston.

Sent Warning Half-Hour Before End.

Evans told of having warned the Titanic only a brief time before the great vessel crashed into the berg, that the sea was crowded with ice.
The Titanic's operator, he said, at the time was working with the wireless station at Cape Race, and they told him to "shut up and keep out."

Within a half-hour the pride of the sea was crumpled and sinking.

It developed today that one reform which is certain to spring from the investigation will be enforced in the wireless rooms of ships entering or leaving American ports. This concerns lack of authority over the operators, as brought out by the testimony to date. Senator Smith, its chairman, announced that such legislation was inevitable.

Captain Lord Denies Gill Story.

Capt. Stanley Lord of the California, prepared to enter a sweeping denial to the statement by Ernest Gill, that the witness brought the log of the California with him.

"Did you try to get into communication with the Titanic on Sunday night?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes, sir, about 10:15 that night, ships time. We told him we were surrounded by ice and had stopped."

"And the Titanic acknowledged that message?"

"Yes, sir. It told us to 'shut up' or 'keep out' or something like that."

"How far were the California and the Titanic apart when you sent your message to the Titanic telling her you were blocked with ice?"

"About 10 1/2 miles."

"Did the California receive the Titanic's 'C. Q. D.' call?"

"No," said the captain, "but we got it from the Virginian about 8 o'clock the morning of the 15th."

"What is the speed of the California?"

"Driving All They Could."

"About 11 knots ordinarily," said the captain. "We made 13 1/2 when we were going to the Titanic."

"Were you making full speed then?"

"We were driving all we could."

"When you told the Titanic you were surrounded by ice, how badly were you surrounded?"

This witness said the field was about 25 miles long and several miles wide.
The California was about a quarter of a mile from the edge of the ice.

"Do you know anything regarding the Titanic disaster of your own knowledge?"

"Nothing."

"Did you see any of her signals or anything of the ship herself?"

"No."

"Was the Titanic beyond your range of vision?"

"Yes, 10 or 12 miles away."

Senator Smith asked the witness how long it took the California to get to the scene of the Titanic disaster. He read from the log to show that at 8 o'clock they started for the scene and reached the Carpathia at 8:30.

Captain Lord said he was on the bridge himself until 10:30 Sunday night and that the watch was doubled.

"If you had received the Titanic's distress call Sunday evening after the communication with the Titanic, how long would it have taken to reach her?"

No Attempt to Detain Him.

"At the very least, two hours," said the witness. Under the ice conditions, he said, it would have been impossible to stop the ship.

"I don't want to seem impatient," said Senator Smith, "but there had been some attempt to rescue you from coming here to testify.
Do you know of any such attempts?"

"No," said Captain Lord. "I don't think there was anything of that kind.
When I was served with the subpoena I asked the assistant general manager for permission. I could not get the general manager. But I was permitted to come."

"Do you know whether your wireless operator was on duty Sunday night after you sent the warning message?"

"I think not. I went by his room about 11:45 and there was no light."

Captain Lord said that if the operator had been on duty he would have acknowledged the distress signal.

He said he was awakened at 2:45 in the morning by the chief officer who said he had seen rockets, and wanted to get some information.

"I made ready and called, and the Frankfurt answered with the news of the sinking of the Titanic. The Virginian called before I left the key, and furnished more information."

Evans said the Frankfurt operator did not tell of the receipt of a "C. Q.
D." from the Titanic or of a rebuff by the Titanic's wireless operator.

Did anyone tell you about Captain Lord having been informed three times that night about a ship sending his rockets, asked Senator Smith.

"I think Gibson, the apprentice, told me that the captain was being called, and told about the rockets," said Evans.
"The men on the ship talked about it among themselves generally," did they?"

"There was a lot of talk while we were on our way to the scene of the wreck. I heard the men say rockets had been sent up in the night, and that the captain had been aroused."

The witness said the apprentice, not out of the Morse signals and tried to get in communication with the distressed vessel. No effort was made to use rockets on the California.

Senator Burton asked Evans if it was generally believed among the men that the rockets were from the Titanic.
He said that Gill expected to get $500 for the rocket story from some newspaper when he got ashore.

Capt. Thomas H. Moore, of the steamer Mount Temple, had not yet arrived and the committee adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Individual Testimony in Accord.

The testimony taken from the Titanic's sailors by individual members of the senate committee was incorporated in the record of the hearings.
Much of this was the repetition of the experience similar to many already related.

An interesting bit of testimony was that of Samuel S. Hemming, a seaman, who said he was asleep when the ship struck and after he had looked out he went back to bed. A storekeeper did the same. Later the boatwain came and said "Turn out you fellows, you have not half an hour to live. That is from Mr. Andrews. Keep it to yourselves and let no one know."

Mr. Andrews, Hemming said, was of the firm of Harland & Wolff, the builders of the ship.

Senator Smith had read into the record a description of the disaster published in the Anaconda, Mont.
Standard, April 16.

He did so, he said, to bring out the fact that other persons seemed to have more information than the officials of the White Star line. Senator Smith then had the witness read a cable message which he sent to the Liverpool office telling of the accident and declaring that the Virginian was on the way to the Titanic's assistance.
The cablegram was sent at 6:15 Monday morning.

"Do you not think," asked the senator, "that if the information you cabled abroad was worth reporting to Liverpool, it certainly was important enough to give to the public?"

Based Report on Dispatches.

Mr. Franklin said he based his report entirely on a telephone communication with the line's agent in Montreal and on reports received by the Associated Press and the newspapers. Mr. Franklin said he lost no time after receiving telegraphic reports from Montreal in informing Liverpool of the "rumors."

Senator Smith suggested Franklin had received the information from Montreal at 3:30 and did not send a dispatch until 6:15.

"I had to wait until I got to the office before I called," said Mr. Franklin.

"It was a matter of expediency."

Cabled inquiries from England for his company, Mr. Franklin said, were received in New York before he sent the cable, but not delivered at his office until after he sent his message. Senator Smith asked if he had directed the cable companies not to deliver important messages at New York.

"No, sir. They would be delivering messages all night if they were to deliver all as they came in."

Senator Smith inquired of Mr. Franklin what authority his company had in wireless operators on their ships.
"I presume if anyone was objectionable he could be removed."

"Do you approve of the custom which has been revealed by Blinn, Cottam and Bridge receiving pecuniary reward for information of disasters?"

"I think it is rather unfortunate. As to the rules governing the duties of wireless operators with special reference to their hours, to whom they reported and by whose authority he left his post."

"I think these things are regulated by the company and not by the ship," said Franklin.

"Operator Cottam testified before the committee in New York that he did not report a message to the captain of the Carpathia because he did not consider it important," continued Senator Smith. "The operator on the Titanic refused to take a warning of the presence of ice from the steamship California because he was busy with his accounts."

"I ask you if there should not be some rules and regulations for governing of operators?"

The witness agreed most emphatically and said the steamship companies were anxious to get the best results from the wireless apparatus.

"No doubt this investigation will bring out some legislation settling the problem. I believe that a law should be enacted compelling among other things the presence of an operator at the instrument all of the time," said Mr. Franklin.

Senator Smith referred to the delay of the Titanic's operator in receiving an ice message and asked whether this one instance was not sufficient proof of the necessity of placing the operators under the absolute control of the captain.

"The delay was unfortunate," said the witness, "but in this instance it was not material, for the Titanic set it 30 minutes later. That was more than five hours before the accident."

More experienced men, at better wages and with reasonably fixed hours of duty, said Senator Smith, also would go far toward solving the problem. He said legislation looking toward such reforms would follow. Evidently smarting under the criticism that the British witnesses were being unduly detained by the committee, Senator Smith asked the witness if he was satisfied with the treatment accorded him.

"Entirely so," responded Mr. Franklin. "In the case of the witnesses from abroad they are very anxious to get home and naturally they are restless. We all recognize that you have a big problem on your hands and if you believe our testimony can aid, you are the best judge of that."

Senator Fletcher asked Mr. Franklin if he deemed it practical for ships to cross the ocean in pairs. The witness said it would not only be a commercial impracticability, but an element of danger to ships themselves.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 26.—A special issue of the Chronicle from Nelson, B. C., today says that, according to a statement by W. H. Kennerly of Nelson, who was a passenger on the steamer Mount Temple, that vessel was within five miles of the Titanic half an hour before the liner went down.

Kennerly declared he saw the lights of the Titanic and that although Captain Moore of the Mount Temple had received wireless messages and that the White Star liner was sinking, that he did not see any children had been put off in the boats he bore to us ship in spite of the entreaties of his officers that he rush to the aid of the Titanic. He said that the other officers of the Mount Temple clothed in high boots and heavy overcoats ready to lower the Mount Temple's boats had urged Captain Moore to make an attempt to reach the Titanic, but that Captain Moore had replied that it was too dangerous and he would not risk the lives of his own passengers.

Kennerly said he had information as to the wireless messages received by the Mount Temple and as to Captain Moore's reply to his officers through a friend of the Marconi operator on board.

He did not notify the bridge or lookout because he said it was not his business and they could not have helped but see the rockets and he supposed they would pay attention.

The committee consists of Adolph Donath, Loveland, chairman; D. C. Taylor, Pueblo; J. C. St. Clair, Denver; Joseph Newitt, Buena Vista; and Charles Munn, Ouray.

At one of these sites, that near Adams crossing, the trustees were met by a committee of Manitou citizens, consisting of Mayor William Lennon, Postmaster H. H. Grafton, J. P. Campbell, A. M. Wilson and James Seitz, who told them of the many advantages of this site for the proposed home.

The local committee, who entertained the visitors consisted of Thomas H. Douglas, H. C. McCreery and M. D. Hexter of Pikes Peak lodge No. 33, I. O. O. F., and J. W. Kriger, W. N. Casely and L. J. Pelta of Colorado Springs lodge No. 140. A luncheon was given them at the Alamo hotel at 12:30, which Mayor Avery attended.

The trustees were taken to the Union Printers home to show them what could be done in Colorado Springs in the way of an institution of this character.

On the trip through the city the trustees and committee were accompanied by Mayor Avery and Dr. P. O. Hanford, and Postmaster John F. Morgan of Colorado City.

May Fish After May 1; Council Also Will Aid Civic Beauty Schemes

At the request of the Hillside Improvement society, the city council has decided to assist the organization in its efforts to encourage boys and girls to improve lawns and gardens and to aid in keeping alleys clean. The society offers prizes to the boys and girls who do the best work. The council will assist in the work by permitting free water for the purposes outlined, and the society plans to plant flowers and shrubs on vacant lots in the southeastern part of the city.

Council decided to permit fishing in Prospect lake, beginning May 1, with the proviso, however, that no fish shall be taken measuring less than seven inches.

The mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign and seal the city's reply to Victor's protest concerning the Colorado Springs-Manitou land bill.

REV. E. B. PRATT PASTOR FIRST BAPTIST IN MAY

FAREWELL RECEPTION IN HONOR DR. J. H. FRANKLIN

A farewell reception was tendered the Rev. James H. Franklin at the First Baptist church last night, at which many members of the church and congregation took occasion to felicitate him on his advancement and express their regret at his leaving here.

A short program was given, consisting of music by the Sunday school orchestra and vocal numbers by a quartet composed of Mrs. E. E. Tallaferra, Miss Eleanor Thomas, Walter Thomas and J. F. Schlotter. A song composed by Mrs. Charles E. Emery in honor of Dr. Franklin was sung by those present.

For Mrs. Franklin, who is at present in Texas, where her mother is ill, Dr. Franklin was presented with a chain and pendant set with pearls and diamonds. Mrs. W. F. Kinney made the presentation speech. When Dr. Franklin started for Africa a year ago, the congregation presented him with a gold watch.

BIG MAP SHOWING TRAILS PREPARED

A large map showing every mountain trail in the Pikes Peak region has been prepared under the supervision of the Chamber of Commerce, and copies will be sent to all parts of the country to advertise the region as an all-summer tourist resort.

The map takes in the territory between the M. W. A. sanatorium on the north and Cheyenne mountain on the south, and Colorado Springs on the east and Pikes Peak on the west. It shows all points of interest in this location, and every trail in the region, however short and incomplete is shown.

The map was made by Sawyer and Garstin of this city, and the data was procured by Manly D. Ormes of Colorado college, and from the geological survey maps. The map is absolutely accurate, and no detail has been omitted.

The Chamber of Commerce will publish a number of booklets containing the map and scenes and descriptions of the various trails near here, within the next few weeks, and these booklets will be sent to commercial clubs and railroads all over the country.

Of Great Benefit. The book will be a great benefit to the region in getting more all-summer tourists here, as it offers hundreds of places to go to spend the day in the mountains. The trails of the region are one feature that has never been advertised heretofore.

Next fall Mr. Ormes and Philip B. Stewart will compile a log of all the trails shown on the map. The Book Society has agreed to go over the route and keep minute logs of the route and landmarks, all of which will be gathered together and put into book form. This work was to have been done last winter so that the book could be available for the present tourist season, but the weather was such that it was impossible to go over many of the trails. However, the book will be ready next winter.

Manly D. PUMPING ARRANGEMENT MUTUALLY ADVANTAGEOUS

In circulars accompanying the regular quarterly dividend checks of 3 cents amounting to $4,000, President F. L. Sigel of the Victorator Consolidated Gold Mining company announces that the joint pumping agreement entered into with the Golden Cycle Mining company last January has operated to the advantage of both companies. The Victorator was drained sufficiently to permit the resumption of operations on the 1,400-foot level March 1. These two are practically the only important mines at camp not drained by the tunnel.

Drilling of the south creosote on the 1,500-foot level was taken up at once, and April 1 the heading was 300 feet from the shaft, or little more than half way to the main ore bodies in the southern part of the property. A drift of 90 feet on the No. 2 south vein at the 1,500-foot level is in good ore, with an excellent grade still showing in the breast.

In conclusion, President Sigel declares that the property made a good production during the quarter, both in grade and quality of ore, the net profits showing an excess of several thousand dollars in addition to the dividend of $45,000 and semiannual taxes of about $7,000.

ALL CHURCH TRUSTEES EXCEPT ONE WITHDRAW

A short time ago the trustees of All Saints Unitarian church in this city were told that the interests of the church would be materially bettered if placed in the hands of a new board. At the same time they were given to understand that their resignations would be in order, and that a new board would be elected to succeed them in the near future.

This announcement came as a sudden shock to the board, and even to some of the other members of the church, and for a time it created quite a sensation. When the excitement died down it was found that all the members of the board, with the exception of J. B. Wheeler of Manitou, had withdrawn, and that two families, the Balkmans and the Bumsteads, both of which had been members of the church for years, had withdrawn.

When asked about the disagreement in the church and the resignation of the board, Mr. Wheeler said: "Why, there is no disagreement. Everything is as smooth as the fur on a cat's wrist. Yes, the board resigned—that is, with the exception of myself—and I could see no reason for resigning—but we had no trouble."

However, it seems to be the opinion of many of the church members that there was reason for resigning, and that there was some disagreement.

The Former Board.

The former board of trustees was composed of C. D. Dewing, president; F. E. Bumstead, vice president; E. C. Woodward, treasurer; C. M. Balkman, secretary; C. S. Robbins, George L. Bender and J. B. Wheeler.

Immediately after the wholesale resignation, the congregation elected the following trustees:

J. B. Wheeler, president; J. D. Hawkins, treasurer; J. L. Bennett, secretary; D. P. Mayhew, W. K. Sinton, G. E. Barker, A. C. Pearson.

It appears that some of the congregation decided that it needed some "new blood" in its board of trustees, and used this means to secure it.

The Rev. Thomas Salter Robert, pastor of the church, explains the situation as follows:

"During my pastorate here I have tried especially hard to increase the membership of my church, and in this I believe I have succeeded to no little degree. Having added so many men to our membership, we decided it was high time we reconstructed the board of trustees and put it on a wider basis. We told our former board what we intended to do, and then came the slight disagreement. However, the members of the board resigned, and now we have elected our new board, and I believe it is about as strong as it can be made."

MANITOU DEPARTMENT

SELK TO CLOSE MANITOU POSTOFFICE ON SUNDAY

The widespread movement for the Sunday closing of postoffices has reached here, and it is probable that Manitou will fall in line with other towns in observing Sunday as a day of rest for the nation's workers.

Under the terms of the act, the secretary of the United States will supply the post at the Manitou Congregational church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, at which time petitions for Sunday closing will be presented for signatures.

mannerisms and laughter-evoking ways of this wonderful actress are to be seen in the fullest blossom of their maturity.

Suppose your wife walked around the house with curl papers on, parading a sloppy wrapper and a generally disheveled appearance, and suppose she never paid the slightest attention to you, her husband, wouldn't you be sore? Of course, you would. You would picture a happy household in which you would greet your wife at the breakfast table, with a rose in her hair, all dolled up, and too cute for anything except kissing. This is the problem that confronts the husband in "The Real Thing."

Seats can be reserved at the box office for tonight's performance, by phone, Main 720. Prices, 50c, $1, $1.50 and $2.00.

RUSSIAN SYMPHONY

MLLE. LOPOUKOWA.

STAR DANCER WITH RUSSIAN SYMPHONY

Mlle. Lydia Lopoukova, the Russian ballerina, who dances May 8, at the Burns theater, shares with Mme. Pavlova the unpleasant existence of exciting the jealousy of Mikail Mordkin. Mlle. Lopoukova is the leading graduate of the ballet school maintained by the Imperial Russian government as Mme. Pavlova is the most prominent prima ballerina of the school.

Mlle. Pavlova and Mlle. Lopoukova are the best of friends and Mme. Pavlova has generously conceded the grace and skill of her younger rival. They have frequently been photographed together and have spent cheerful hours in each other's company in New York and California. Mme. Pavlova indeed is responsible for Mlle. Lopoukova's visit to the United States. A few years ago in London Mme. Pavlova advised Mr. Joseph Mendelsheim, now manager of Mlle. Lopoukova, to engage the young prima ballerina, whose work was beginning to attract attention throughout Russia.

After Mordkin's jealousy of Pavlova's success, manifested in a number of spiteful behind the scenes, caused their separation, Mlle. Lopoukova was prevailed upon to accept Mordkin as her dancing partner. Mlle. Lopoukova's success was such that in Buffalo last winter, Mordkin, his ballet master of the company, out of several of her dances from the program. This led to a temporary separation, though the two danced together later at the Winter Garden in New York and on a trip to Washington.

The Baltimore American has the following to say of the Russian Symphony orchestra: "The orchestra fairly shared honors with the drama in its splendid performance and the pleasure given the audience, and while it was enthusiastically applauded, it won the deep and fervent attention during the performance of the various numbers. The striking characteristics of the orchestra were its harmony and its expressiveness. The music followed the action of the drama in its fancy, now soft and low, now swelling into joyousness, now shading off into weird, dreamy melody, then following the love sentiment with tender harmony, and then breaking out into 'perfect music into noble words.'"

And in all these changes of meaning and of expression the instruments blended with such fine and harmonious unity that it sounded like one note.

LOUISE GUNNING, IN "THE BALKAN PRINCESS"

OPERA HOUSE, NEXT WEEK

For a year before "The Balkan Princess" had been produced in New York, much of its musical music had been heard in public places. The success of the piece in London, where it was originally staged, soon became noised about in New York, with the result that when it was finally brought out in that city, it was like an old friend being welcomed home.

As to the book, its chief point is that it has substance and plot, a romantic story, aside from the comedy elements involved. The dramatic quality is particularly in evidence in this unusual feature in musical comedy. In that the second and third acts end with "situations" instead of the conventional ensembles. The finish is in the fashion of a straight sentimental comedy. Louise Gunning, with the voice of a nightingale, and surrounded by a metropolitan cast and chorus is duplicating on tour the prosperous reign she enjoyed for a year in New York at the age of 17.

ZOOZ AND ROBBINS LINE UP TOMORROW

If a sunny weather does not continue, the Zooz and Robbins will play at Zoo park tomorrow afternoon, and a good crowd is looked for.

In view of the baseball negotiations that have been in progress for several days, Manager Galt has held up arrangements pending with several high-class ball players whom he intended to bring here at once, but will probably have two or three new faces in the lineup. As the pick of the local players will be in the game, the contest will give a pretty good line on the team talent available for the Zooz.

is printed, in plain English, a full list of the ingredients comprising it and in addition, accompanying is a booklet, compiled from many standard medical works of various schools of practice, containing extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery has been recommended for forty years for strengthening a weak system, slipping into life and liver and overcoming biliousness, as well as catarrhal diseases of various locations.

Through its use Dr. Pierce has found in his professional practice that the blood is purified and enriched, disease-producing bacteria destroyed and expelled from the body, thus catarrhal, staphylococcal and blood affections are overcome, and sound, vigorous health established.

You can learn all about hygiene, anatomy, medicine, etc., from the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, a newly revised, up-to-date edition of which is now offered, in cloth covers, post-paid, for 31 cents in one cent stamps, to cover cost of writing and mailing only.

DU GRAY SAYS HE WILL WRESTLE RYAN ANY TIME

Frank Du Gray, the Grand Junction wrestler, feels that he has not been given a square deal in the matter of a return match with Tommy Ryan. He claims that Ryan has been offered a very liberal purse to meet him, but he refuses to come here and insists that I meet him in the Springs, which I am willing to do if he will make a side bet large enough to make it worth while.

"I am willing to wrestle him any time, at any place and will send a forfeit for my appearance and guarantee of good faith, if he will but show a willingness to meet me for money sufficient to make it worth while."

"I don't think it is fair to me to print his story in your paper when you had no other proof than his own unsupported word to substantiate the statements. If arrangements can be made for the staging of the match there, I will send you $100 in gold as a forfeit or part of a side bet, as he sees fit."
